About This Production

Just over 80 years ago, The Women's Land Army was formed to help feed the British public during WW2.

At its height over 80,000 served; from different backgrounds and walks of life, aged 19 to over 40. Torn from their families, unused to the hardships of farming life, they missed their home comforts.

Poignant and funny by turns, and based on interviews with Land Army Girls, 'Lilies' tells of their hardships, their joys and their loves.
